Rome (Italy ) Aug. 1817. For the first time has appeared in these seas, passing from Leghorn, an American squadron, which has been off our port for several days, but has since sailed for Naples. We remarked the uncommon good appearence of these ships. A very exact military discipline, a perfect knowledge of naval affairs, and of navigation, appeared in every thing. Their spring locks combined ease, simplicity, and instant effect, and they were equally admirable in their fire arms and in pistols, and multiplied their discharge at pleasure. The exercise, activity and readiness of their marines, and their perfect acquaintance with every thing, were der, and do bonor to the nation to which they belong. Their vessels were well found, fast sailers, and neat as they were well built.

We have (says the Aurora) received the Madrid ( zette, of the 9th, 12th and 14th of Avgust-and a letter from an American traveller, of the 20th of the same month; papers down to the latter date are mentioned, but have not been received. The following are extracts:-

"There is nothing new in this city, (Madrid) except that the king has agreed to abolish the slave trade, in consideration of the sum of the 200,000l. sterling to be paid by Great Britain, which will be liquidated by bills on the merchants in the ports of Spain, who will have permission to import British manufactures to that amount.

"The expedition to Buenos Ayres, which I lerrn has been long agitated, continues to be spoken of still, but that appears to be all that is done on the subject, for those who have been in this place for a long time say, that itappeared to be as far advanced every day for six months past, as at this mornent. The junta of Reemplasos are unable, and it is said unwilling to comply with their engagements. The men are it is true means to equip them and fit them out. You will see in the gazettes of this place, which I send you, up to this date, how they speak of General Mina, and his expedition to Mexico. They speak of an address issued by him from Soto la Marina, in April, of the present year; but they do not publish it, nor has it appeared in any American paper received here, as I am informed. But the truth is, that, with all their bombast, the expedition of Mina has dismally frightened the greatest people in Madrid.

"You must have heard of the death of General Lacy long ago. He was embarked by night at Barcelona, carried to Majorca, and there immediately shot, also by night. It is said his remains were left unburied, because he refused to receive the rites of the church, and to consent to forgive his enemies : he died with the constancy and calmness of a true hero. The order for his execution, it appears, was given prior to the sitting of the military court-but their decision has not been permitted to appear; and, it is said, was neither unanimous, nor composed of the necessary plurality to be legal: a few only were for death, some for banishment, and a still greater number for confinement in a fortress, and ali these propositions would comport with the laws of this country. Sentences of military courts are always sent to the king for approbation; but the facts will shew how much law was regarded. The advocate, or as he is called, the defender of gen. Lucy, was a lieutenant general named Cagigal, who immediately upon the rising of the court, passed rapidly for Madrid, to use his influence in procuring the mildest sentence proposed by the military court, but now it appears, that Lacy was shot at Majorca, on the very same evening that general Cagigai reached this city. "You need not express your surprize, therefore, at what I am now going to tell you about our countryman, Mr. Meade, who continues still confined, and whose confinement has been made more rigorous for sometime past, as I learn. Upon the vigorous representations of our minister here (G. W. Erving, Esq.) an order was publicly issued under the royal signature, for the release of Mr. Meade, declaring that there was no cause for his imprisonment : vet, although this order sued in the most formal and public manner, and our minister furnished with an authenticated copy, Mr. Meade was not quiry was made, it was by mere accident discovered, that another royal order (but) secret) was issued at the very same time, the secret order as well as the public one; you may judge what dependance is to be placed in a government so faithless good faith as this is. Does our government mean to submit to tais kind of outrage upon the rights and liberties of its citizens? Are the whole world to laugh at us, and thus learn with what perfect! impunity foreign nations may trample upon Americans?

"The English ambassador maintai sas much ascendancy at this court, as on any former occasion, and there is not a man of any information in Madrid, who does not believe that it is the influence of the English minister that produced Mr. M's imprisonment and protracts his confinement. TO THE EDITOR.

I observed in your last paper, a correspondence between the " Peace Sociey" of Massachusetts, and the Emperor of Russia and Prince Gallitzen, in which the secretary of the society endeavors to convince the Emperor and Prince that the continent. Admitting the fact to be as representreleased, nor is he yet released: when in- ed by the secretary, I much question the propriety of thus officially making it known to all Europe. If we are prepared, or preparing, for submission to the first under the royal signature, forbidding a invader, it would seem to me that in orcompliance with the public order; this der to put the evil day as far off as posvou may rest assured of, for there is in sible, policy would require us to keep it the possession of Mr. Erving a copy of secret as long as we can, and not to invite invasion by an avowal that the doctrine of non-resistance had gained, and was gaining, great ground among us. In sober truth, Mr. Editor, I think it the height of folly, while the potentates of Europe are all keeping up vast standng armies-and while, as we have been often informed, the Emperor of Russia tures for the Island of Cuba to be ceded is devoting his attention in a particular manner to the exercise and improvement of his troops—to be at so much pains to plies and the maintenance of the British circulate the belief that we are beating army. We have lately visited the paper mills of T. This process of making paper delivers a sheet of greater breadth than any made in America, and of any length-in one contined unbroken succession of fine or coarse materials, regulated at pleasure to a greater or lesser thickness. The paper, when made, is collected from the machine on reels, in succession as they are filled, and these are removed to the furdays a numerous force of artillery,) and ther progress of the manufacture. The paper in its texture is perfectly smooth and even, and is not excelled by any made by hand, in the usual manner of workmanship-as it possesses all the beauty, regularity, and strength of what is called well closed and well shut sheets. LONDON, SEPT. 17. COMMERCIAL RESTRICTIONS .-- The continental journalists tell us, that Lord Strangford is commissioned to prevail on the court of Stockholm to grant more indulgence to English commerce. If they mean by this, that he is to pray a relaxation of the duties on the import of British manufactures into Sweden, we suspect that his Lordship's business is nearly done to his hand. From all the accounts which we have seen, the Swedish court is by this time sensible of its the same date, the accustomed duties impolicy, in suffering the contraband traders of Sweden to rise paramount to her merchants, and her laws.

In the meantime less is purchased from Sweden than formerly, since she has deprived herself of the benefit of seiling, by her declaration that she will not buy. She has no manufactures wherewith to command a foreign market; nor, without even excepting her best article, her iron, has she any species of raw produce which neighboring nations cannot do without. The partioutar situation, therefore, in which Sweden is placed, rather aggravates than qualifies the mischief she must expeience from her disregard of the general principles of commerce.

REVIVAL OF PARTY SPIRIT. An eastern paper conjectures, that the discussion in Congress of the question of recognizing the independence of the South American republics, will revive party spirit in the United States. We have never believed that party spirit was put to rest: we have never been convinced of the sincerity of federal professions on this subject: we believe that the rancor of the leaders of that party has never ceased, and that it is as vindictive, though not so undisguised, as ever it was, towards the republicans. That our impressions on this point have been correct. is demonstrated by the fact, that wherever the federalists have had an ascendancy in the politics of any state, they have OTS. Dialogues Pleasant and Interesting, Upon the all-important subject in Church Government, What are the Legitimate Terms of Admission to Visible Church Communion?

BY ADAM RANKIN, Pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyteria Church in Lexington, Kentucky.

T is agreed, that communion presuppose union; and that, in every association, sig nals are essential to union and communion; and that invisible union is essential to divine communion. But the question is, Whether invisible union alone entitles to visible sacramental communion?
